INDEX TO VOLUME CXXXI.

Abbott, S. W. Radical differences in methods of production and cultivation of vaccine lymph, 259.

Abdominal Surgery. Abdominal drainage, Cushing, E. W., 205, 215; an immediate surgical interference in cases of perforation of the stomach by ulcer, 495; gunshot wound of the spleen and kidney, abdominal section, hemostasis by deep suture, recovery, Tiffany, L. McL., 619; gunshot wounds of the abdomen, lacerating the liver and bowel, Robinson, W. L., 644.

Acne. A case of acne rosacea hypertrophica, with operation, Lund, F. B., 267.

Acker, G. N. A mirror writer, 144.

Adams, D. S. Ununited fractures, 268.

Adams, Z. B. Death supposed to have been caused by violence, 576, 583.

Adenoid vegetations and cleft palate, Coolidge, A., Jr., 163.

Aero-urethroscopy, with a new instrument, 218.

Ainhum, 322.

Alcohol. General considerations on alcoholic cirrhosis of the liver, 470.

Alexander, S. A suggestion as to the removal of adeno-myomatous growths from the prostate, 193.

Allen, G. W. Remarks on the treatment of cystitis, 194.

Allen. Quinine exanthem, 65.

Ambulance. Baron Mundy and the Vienna Ambulance Society, 300.

Amputations. Primary amputations in the traumatisms of civil life, 512.

Anatomy. Recent progress in anatomy, Dwight, T., 561.

Anemia. A study of anemia cases with the aid of the hemometer and blood-counter, Richardson, A. G., Joslin, E. P., and Denny, F. P., 183, 187.

Anesthesia. Notes on anesthesia, vomiting after ether, Blake, J. B., 313; posture in anesthesia accidents, Hare, H. A., 418; the first administration of ether in Paris, and other reminiscences, Williams, H. W., 475.

Anatomy. "Barclay's geese," 46; the range and significance of variation in the human skeleton, Dwight, T., 73, 97.

Angell, E. B. Case of infantile hemiplegia, imbecility and epilepsy; craniotomy, marked improvement, 346.

Animals. Tuberculosis in cattle, Osgood, F. H., 55; the prevalence of bovine tuberculosis, Peters, A., 525, 533; diagnosis and prevention of bovine tuberculosis, Winchester, J. F., 526, 533; sanitary condition of dairy farms, Parker, J. M., 528; the agricultural aspect of tuberculosis, Sessions, W. R., 531, 533; bovine tuberculosis in Massachusetts, 541.

Ankle. Five cases of compound fracture of the ankle-joint, Balch, F. G., 210.

Anthracosis. The influence of politics on pulmonary therapeutics, 175.

Antitoxin treatment of diphtheria, 298; after-effects of antitoxin, 623; antitoxin treatment at Stuttgart, 626.

Appendicitis, with a report of three cases, Beach, H. H. A., 107; appendicitis, report of three cases, Irish, J. C., 109; appendicitis, Mumford, J. G., 110.

Army. Annual report of the Surgeon-General, 593.

Arnold, H. D. Puerperal eclampsia, a report of three cases, 32.

Arsenic. Chronic arsenical poisoning, Hills, W. B., 453, 464, 477.

Asparagus. The action of asparagus on the kidneys, Yeo, B., 46.

Astragalus. Exsection of the astragalus, Burns, R., 270.

Asylums. An indictment of asylum superintendents, 66.

Athletics. The educational aspect of college athletics, Conant, W. M., 381, 393; report of the director of physical training in Boston's public schools, 421.

Austin, A. E. Some observations on tubercular meningitis, 636.

Axtell, E. R. Method of study for medical students and young medical graduates, 79.

Ayres, S. Myxedema treated with sheep's thyroid, 319.

Bacteriology. The bacteriology of eclampsia, Bar and Renon, 21; disease germs in European railroad carriages, Petri, Kolb and Friedrich, 91; a ready culture medium for the gonococcus, Wood, M. W., 123; the bacillus coli communis, Darling, E. A., 479, 511; two cases of gonorrheal rheumatism with specific bacterial organisms in the blood, Hewes, H. F., 515; the microbiology of meningitis, 518.

Balch, F. G. Five cases of compound fracture of the ankle-joint, 210, 214.

Baldy, J. M. Extirpation of the uterus in disease of adnexa, 292.

Balfour. Scientific investigations and the public, 95.

Bar and Renon. The bacteriology of eclampsia, 21.

"Barclay's Geese," 46.

Bartlett, E. J. Potable water, 272.

Baths. Sponge baths and full baths in typhoid, Cabot, R. C., 290.

Baudouin. The American physician as seen by a Frenchman, 200.

Beach, H. H. A. Appendicitis, with a report of three cases, 107.

Bell, A. N. The ground-water supply of Brooklyn, 371.

Bell, J. Two cases of syphilis that have a bearing on the question of the period during which the disease is communicable, 244.

Beri-Beri. Intestinal parasites in beri-beri, Walker, J. H., 449.

Berlin. Letter from Berlin, Ryder, G., 302.

Bibliography. Abrams, A., clinical diagnosis, 90; Army, annual report of the surgeon-general, 593; Bannister, H. M., a practical manual of mental medicine, 469; Bartley, E. H., text-book of medical and pharmaceutical chemistry, 493; Boston City Hospital, annual report, 274; Bouchard, C., lectures on auto-intoxication or self-poisoning in the individual, 420; Brockway, F. J., essentials of physics, arranged in the form of questions and answers, prepared especially for students of medicine, 90; Burdett's hospital and charities annual, 1894, 18; Burk, C. M., the myology of the pigeon, 18; Carpenter, G., congenital affections of the heart, 348; Charcot, clinique des maladies du système nerveux, 221; Corning, J. L., pain in its neuro-pathological, diagnostic, medico-legal and neuro-therapeutic relations, 245; Dana, C. L., text-book of nervous diseases, 469; Denison, C., exercise for pulmonary invalids, 221; Devine, W. H., emergency and hygiene notes for the militia, 420; Dietz, W. D., the soldier's first aid handbook, 647; Doty, A. H., a manual of instruction on the principle of prompt aid to the injured, including a chapter on hygiene and the drill regulation for the hospital corps, U. S. A., 349; Downie, J. W., clinical manual for the study of diseases of the throat, 298; Flint, A., a treatise on the principles and practice of medicine, 591; Foster, F. P., an illustrated encyclopedic medical dictionary, 146; Garrigues, H. J., a text-book of the diseases of women, 321; Gleason, E. B., essentials of diseases of the throat and nose, 445; Gould, G. M., an illustrated dictionary of medicine, biology and allied sciences, 194; Gowers, W. R., a manual of diseases of the nervous system, 117; Grandin, E. H., and Jarman, G. W., obstetric surgery, 590; Grossman, J., die Bedeutung der hypnotischen Suggestion als Heilmittel, 349; Hall, F. de H., diseases of the nose and throat, 349; Hamilton, A. McL., a system of legal medicine, 196; Haultain, F. W. N., handbook of obstetric nursing, 445; Hayem, G., leçons de thérapeutique, 445; Heath, C., a manual of minor surgery and bandaging, for the use of house-surgeons, dressers and junior practitioners, 90; Index Medicus, 626; Ingals, E. F., diseases of the chest, throat and nasal cavities, 420; Inglis-Parsons, S., the healing of rodent cancer by electricity, 245; Jackson, E., essentials of refraction and the diseases of the eye, 445; Jones, H. W., practical manual of diseases of women and uterine therapeutics for students and practitioners, 541; Kerr, N., inebriety or narcomania, its etiology, pathology, treatment and jurisprudence, 348; Kimber, D. C. text-book of anatomy and physiology for nurses, 493; Linn, T., where to send patients abroad for water cures and climatic treatment, 298; MacDonald, A., abnormal man, being essays on education and crime and related subjects, with digests of literature and a bibliography, 90; MacEwen, W., atlas of head sections 195, and pyogenic infective diseases of the brain and spinal cord, 195; Maine, first annual report upon the births, marriages, divorces and deaths, 1892, 540; Malcolm, J. D., the physiology of death from traumatic fever; a study of abdominal surgery, 90; Martin, C., the after-treatment of cases of abdominal section, 90; Morris, H., essentials of practice of medicine, 245; Morrow, P. A., system of genito-urinary diseases, syphilology and dermatology, 547; Nancrede, C. B., essentials of anatomy, including the anatomy of the viscera, 146; Phillips, C. D. F., materia medica, pharmacology and therapeutics, inorganic substances, 322; Quain, R., and others, a dictionary of medicine, 591; Rawitz, Lehrbuch der Histologie, 118; Sayre, L. E., essentials of practice of pharmacy, 349, Stevens, A. A., a manual of therapeutics, 420; Strahan, S. A. K., suicide and insanity, a physiological and sociological study, 492; Talbot, E. S., the etiology of osseous deformities of the head, face, jaw and teeth, 348; Thorne, J. F., trephining in its ancient and modern aspects, 541; Tronessart, E. L., antiseptic therapeutics, 195; Tyson, J., manual of physical diagnosis, 349; Vierordt, O., a clinical text-book of medical diagnosis for physicians and students, 90; Will, J. C. O., lectures on genito-urinary diseases, 118; Williams, C. T., aëro-therapeutics or the treatment of lung diseases by climate, 322; Withaus, R. A., medical jurisprudence, forensic medicine and toxicology, 540, and essentials of chemistry and toxicology, 621; Wood, G. B., and Bache, F., the dispensatory of the United States, 321.

Bicycle. Woman and the bicycle, 247; the dangers of the bicycle, 353.

Biggs, H. M. A discussion on the prevention of tuberculosis, 441.

Billings, J. S. Hygiene in university education, 125; address before the Harvard Medical Alumni Association, 140.

Biography. Brinton, J. B., 600; Brown-Séquard, 95; Brown, W. E., 124; Browne, J. M., 597; Charcot, 427; Clapp, L. W., 304; Clark, R. D., 176; Dabney, W. C., 304; Danielssen, D. C., 228; Davis, G., W., 356; Douglas, S., 423, 428; Fabbri, C. E. P., 124; Gage, C. P., 628; Goodell, W., 476; Hamilton, A. O., 380; Hannover, A., 124; Helmholtz, 275, 279, 280; Helper, B. F., 328; Holmes, A. R., 500;

Holmes, O. W., 375, 380, 423, 449, 473, 499, 584; Huckins, D. T., 96; Hyrtl, J., 96; Ingraham, T. M., 497; Jewett, G., 628; Kitchen, J., 228; Lansdale, P., 228; Lemcke, 380; Lister, J., 599; Little, W. J., 96; Maldonado, J., 304; Manning, J., 600; Miles, A. B., 304; Moran, J. J., 328; Mundy, Baron, 300; Oergel, K. E., 497; Peters, G. A., 596, 600; Pleasonton, Gen., 120; Rake, B. N., 304; Reese, W. W., 476; Rollett, 304; Sanborn, N., 304; Semmelwe s, 273; Seymour, W. B., 300; Sims, J. M., 645; Smith, H., 380; Smith, H. S. B., 476; Stone, W. E., 618; Sturges, O., 548; Townsend, G. J., 600; Underwood, M., 356; Wainwright, W. A. M., 328; Warnots, L., 304; Watson, B. C., 476; Wells, H., 596; Whittemore, F. S., 548.

Blake, C. J. Recent progress in otology, 460.

Blake, J. B. Notes on anesthesia, vomiting after ether, 313; a convenient form of ether cone, 617.

Blake, J. G. The decline of the pessary, 285, 291; cases from the uterine ward of the City Hospital, 609, 617.

Bloomingdale Asylum, 198.

Blumenthal. Certain peculiarities of the urine in pertussis, 47.

Bone. A case of osteomalacia, Dock, G., 17.

Booth, J. A. The thyroid theory in Graves's disease; two cases treated by thyroidectomy, 319.

Bose, K. C. Gunja-smoking and the "Pukhys," 250.

Boston. The health of Boston and Philadelphia, 92.

Boston Dispensary, 402

Bourget, P. M. Paul Bourget and American hospitals for the insane, 449.

Bowditch, H. P. Alma Mater, a sonnet by Oliver Wendell Holmes, 451.

Bowditch, V. Y. Three years' experience with sanitarium treatment of pulmonary diseases near Boston, 27, 49.

Bowen, J. T. Recent progress in dermatology, 315, 341.

Bradford, E. H. Sprains and disabled joints, 156, 163.

Bradycardia. A case of bradycardia, Rockwell, A. D., 468.

Bread. Sterilization of bread, 249.

Breast. Tumors of the breast, Warren, J. C., 7; simultaneous appearance of cancer in breast and uterus, Evans, J., 646.

Bridge, N. Cough induced by posture, as a symptom nearly diagnostic of phthisis, 17.

Bright's Disease. Three cases of Bright's disease of different types, Ogden, J. B., 305, 318.

Bronson. A case of symmetrical cutaneous atrophy of the extremities, 65.

Brooklyn. The ground-water supply of Brooklyn, Bell, A. N., 371.

Brown, B. Observations on the action of chloroform on the functions of the human brain and spinal cord, as witnessed in extensive injuries of the cranium and brain, 620.

Brown, C. H. Infantile amyotrophic lateral sclerosis of the family type, 346.

Brown, D. The early diagnosis of Pott's disease of the spine in children, 143.

Browp, F. T. A case of cystitis and pyonephrosis due to colon bacillus, requiring nephrectomy, 244.

Browning, W. Lumbar puncture for the removal of cerebro-spinal fluid, 345.

Brown-Sequard. Dr. Brown-Séquard's last illness, 95.

Bryce, P. H. The practical difficulties experienced by officers of health in dealing with cases of diphtheria, 372.

Bryson, J. P. Urine-leakage and stricture formation, 218; the question of surgical interference in tuberculous kidney, 243.

Buckingham, E. M. Imperfectly sterilized milk, 160.

Burrage, W. L. A case of primary tuberculosis of the female bladder diagnosed and treated by Howard Kelly's new method of direct inspection with large endoscopes, 76.

Burrell, H. L., and Cushing, H. W. Recent progress in surgery, 485.

Burns, R. Exsection of the astragalus, 270.

Cabot, R. C. Sponge baths and full baths in typhoid, 290; acute leukemia, 507, 517.

Cafebrin. Cyanosis following the use of "cafebrin," Richardson, M. H., 403.

Cailie, A. Tonsillotomy followed by diphtheria and croup, 115.

Cancer. The victims of cancer houses, Shattock, 149; simultaneous appearance of cancer in breast and uterus, Evans, J., 646.

Cantrell. A case of favus of the head and body, 41.

Capdevila, M. Odontalgia in the army of the Argentine Republic, 150.

Carlyle and the medical priesthood, 302.

Carnot. The wound of President Carnot, 119.

Carr, J. W. Starting-points of tuberculous disease in children, 151.

Car sanitation, Conn, G. P., 374.

Cartledge, A. M. Some cases of acute intestinal obstruction, 619.

Carvelle, H. D. W, Pink eye, glaucoma and iritis, errors of refraction, 272.

Chadwick, J. R. Address before the Harvard Medical Alumni Association, 136.

Chancroids. Treatment of urethral chancroids, Clark, F. C., 612.

Channing, W. Tuberculosis in mental disease, 62.

"Charaka Samhita."—Observations on diet, 122.

Charcot. A memorial of Charcot, 427.

Chemistry. The chemical products of the anerobic putrefaction of pancreatic and hepatic tissues and their effects upon the tests for morphine, Vaughan, V. C., 17.

Children. Report on diseases in children, Rotch, T. M., 11; the influence of race, especially the Italian race (on measles), Snow, I. N., 116; a case of congenital rickets, Townsend, C. W., 116; infantile scurvy, especially its differential diagnosis, Fruitnight, J. H., 117; leukemia in infants, Morse, J. L., 133; a case of cyanosis, Northrup, W. T., 142; infantile myxedema, Northrup, W. T., 143; the successful treatment of a case of infantile myxedema with thyroid extract, Mosler, W., 143; acute pyelitis in infancy, Holt, M. E., 143; starting-points of tuberculous disease in children, Carr, J. W., 151; remarks on certain accidents occurring in pulmonary tuberculosis in childhood, 179; infant mortality in London, 226; some mental disorders of childhood and youth, Hurd, H. M., 281; chronic tubercular peritonitis in children, Peckham, F. E., 287; the frequency of middle-ear disease in children, 327; case of infantile hemiplegia, imbecility and epilepsy; craniotomy, marked improvement, Angell, E. B., 346; infantile amyotrophic lateral sclerosis of the family type, Brown, C. H., 346; a study of the eyes of 220 school children in the Worcester city schools, Swasey, E., 408; a case of melena neonatorum, Thornton, J. B., 416; acute infantile arthritis in the hip, Thorndike, A., 432, 440, 456; the mortality among Massachusetts school children, 447.

China. The plague in China, 222.

Chismore, G. Modifications of Bigelow's operation for stone in the bladder, designed to meet cases in which the prostate is enlarged, 191.

Chloroform. The cause of death by chloroform, 226; observations on the action of chloroform on the functions of the human brain and spinal cord, as witnessed in extensive injuries of the cranium and brain, Brown, B., 620.

Cholera. Haffkine's anti-cholera inoculation, 201; some experiences with cholera in Asia, 437; a fatal case of laboratory cholera, 497.

Christopher, W. S. The nutritional element in the causation of neuroses, 142.

Church, J. R. Another case of gun-shot wound of the heart, 544.

Circulatory System. Hemorrhage after operations on the nasal septum, Getchell, A. C., 9; the influence of venous congestion on the spinal reflex centres, Rachford, B. K., 115; a case of cyanosis, Northrop, W. T., 142; a study of anemia cases, with the aid of the hemometer and blood-counter, Richardson, A. G., Joslin, E. P., and Denny, F. P., 183; recent progress in thoracic diseases, Sears, G. G., 186; the use of sedatives in heart disease, Hare, H. A., 418; acute leukemia, Cabot, R. C., 507; another case of gun-shot wound of the heart, Church, J. R., 544; the diagnosis and surgical treatment of cases of embolism and thrombosis of the mesenteric blood-vessels, with reports of cases, Watson, F. S., 552, 563; a report of three cases of embolus of the mesenteric artery, with remarks on the subject, Lothrop, H. A., 557, 564; occlusion of the mesenteric artery, 566; a case of embolism of the abdominal aorta, 567; a few cases illustrative of the diagnostic value of an examination of the blood, Jackson, H., 633, 643; ligation of arteries, Wyeth, J. A., 646.

Clark, F. C. Treatment of urethral chancroids, 612.

Cleveland, G. President Cleveland recommends a National Board of Health, 597.

Climate. Climatic therapeutics in the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis, 51; some meteorological data, Fisk, S. A., 253.

Clinic. A model surgical clinic, 203.

Clover. Red clover, 246.

Cold as an etiological factor in diseases of the skin, Corlett, 42.

Commercialization of medicine, or the physician as tradesman, Schaeffer, T. W., 501; the physician as tradesman, 519.

Conant, W. M. The educational aspect of college athletics, 381, 393.

Congenital constipation, Huber, F., 115.

Conn, G. P. Car sanitation, 374.

Constipation. Congenital constipation, Huber, F., 115.

Contagion. The prevention of contagious disease, 146.

Coolidge, A., Jr. Deformities of the septal cartilages, 158, 166; adenoid vegetations and cleft palate, 163.

Corlett. Cold as an etiological factor in diseases of the skin, 42.

Cough induced by posture as a symptom nearly diagnostic of phthisis, Bridge, N., 17.

Councilman, W. T. Lesions of the intestinal canal, 84; pathological specimens, 241.

Cremation. The sanitary disposal of the garbage and refuse of cities, 171.

Cripps, H. Dangers of the long rectal tube, 278.

Crothers, T. D. The influence of inebriety upon public health, 373.

Cumston, C. G. Remarks on certain accidents occurring in pulmonary tuberculosis in childhood, 179; the treatment of the so-called incurable purulent pleurisies by the siphon, 502, 516; note on the bromide of ethyl, 613, 618.

Cunningham, T. E. Hydramnion with hydrocephalus, requiring craniotomy, 580.

Cushing, E. W. Abdominal drainage, 205, 215.

Cutaneous System. Thyroid feeding in diseases of the skin, Jackson, G. T., 40; folliculitis decalvans, Fox, 41; a case of favus of the head and body, Cantrell, 41; cold as an etiological factor in diseases of the skin, Corlett, 42; adeno-carcinoma of the skin starting in the sweat glands, Fordyce, 64; contagiousness of molluscum contagiosum, Stelwagon, 64; harlequin fetus, Sherwell, 64; the protozoa-like bodies of herpes zoster, Hartwell, 64; rare dermatoses, White, J. C., 64; quinine exanthem, Allen, 65; a case of symmetrical cutaneous atrophy of the extremities, Bronson, 65; the relation of impetigo herpetiformis to pemphigus vegetans, Zeisler, 65; protozoa dermatitis, Gilchrist, 66; a case of acne rosacea hypertrophica, with operation, Lund, F. B., 267; recent progress in dermatology, Bowen, J. T., 315, 341; ainhum, 322; the thyroid treatment of skin diseases, 323; the contagiousness and control of leprosy, White, J. C., 405.

Cutler, E. G. Two unusual cases of malaria, one of remittent fever followed by death, the other a marked intermittent, successfully treated, 237, 239.

Cyanosis. A case of cyanosis, Northrup, W. T., 142.

Dana, C. L. A study of the temperature in cerebral apoplexy, 15; cerebral hemorrhage, its cause and premonitory symptoms, 344.

Darling, E. A. The bacillus coli communis, 479, 511.

Davenport, B. F. Report upon food, drugs and articles of domestic use, 242.

Davenport, F. H. The ultimate results of the treatment of retrodisplacements by pessaries, 297; recent progress in gynecology, 366.

Davis, E. P. Symphyseotomy for the relative indication, with complications, 182; fatal nausea and vomiting of pregnancy, 295.

Davis, H. G. Congenital dislocations of the hip, 523.

Death. Death due to the inhalation of vomitus in a strong and healthy child aged three and a half years, Prescott, 190; death from acute purulent peritonitis, due to sepsis caused by tapping the sac of a scrotal hernia, Prescott, 191.

Decomposition. The chemistry of decomposition, Robinson, F. C., 170.

DeMay, C. F. A bug story, 425.

Dercum, F. X., and Keen, W. W. Two cases of ingravescent cerebral hemorrhage treated by ligation of the common carotid artery, 347.

Diabetes. A new departure in connection with diabetes; Dr. Pavy's Croonian lectures, 197; a case of diabetes insipidus, Fisk, S. A., 415; pancreatic diabetes, 592.

Digestive System. Gastro-enteric rheumatism, Lyman, H. W., 17; lesions of the intestinal canal, Councilman, W. T., 84; appendicitis, with a report of three cases, Beach, H. H. A., 107; appendicitis, report of three cases, Irish, J. C., 109; appendicitis, Mumford, J. G., 110; congenital constipation, Huber, F., 115; report of committee on nomenclature of diseases of the mouth and gastro-enteric tract, Roteh, T. M., 143; the treatment of hemorrhoids by clamp and cautery, Foster, B. B., 168; a new departure in connection with diabetes; Dr. Pavy's Croonian lectures, 197; cancer of the sigmoid flexure, perforation of the cancerous ulcer, death, autopsy, Lund, F. B., 211, 217; stomatitis neurotica chronica, Jacobi, A., 249; dangers of the long rectal tube, Cripps, H., 278; chronic tubercular peritonitis in children, Peckham, F. E., 287; fatal vomiting without discoverable cause, Vickery, H. F., 314, 317; mercyeism, Hammond, W. A., 347; a case of diabetes insipidus, Fisk, S. A., 415; a case of melena neonatorum, Thornton, J. B., 416; an abnormally located cecum, Farenholt, A., 427; the surgery of the stomach, 446; intestinal parasites in beri-beri, Walker, J. H., 449; the bacillus coli communis, Darling, E. A., 479; on immediate surgical interference in cases of perforation of the stomach by ulcer, Michaux, 495; a case of perityphlitic abscess in a child four years old, in which the appendix was not the cause of the abscess, recovery, Homans, J., 580; some cases of acute intestinal obstruction, Cartledge, A. M., 619; acute peritonitis, Douglas, R., 645.

Digitalis in pneumonia, 172.

Diphtheria. The harm done by certain local modes of treatment in diphtheria; treatment of nasal diphtheria, 91; tonsillotomy followed by diphtheria and croup, Caille, A., 115; antitoxin treatment of diphtheria, 298; serum therapy in diphtheria, Roux, 325; studies in the pathology of diphtheria, Wright, J. H., 329, 357; some clinical features of the bacteriology of diphtheria, Welch, 354; the management of epidemics of diphtheria in rural districts, Hodgetts, C. A., 372; the practical difficulties experienced by officers of health in dealing with cases of diphtheria, Bryce, P. H., 372; the antitoxin of diphtheria, 496; the new treatment for diphtheria, Ewald, C. A., 521; the prevention of diphtheria, Williams, F. H., 546; the antitoxin treatment of diphtheria at the Trousseau Hospital, Morrill, F. G., 547; diphtheria antitoxin in New York, 569; safeguards and guarantees for diphtheria antitoxin, 598; a few cases of diphtheria treated with antitoxin, Williams, F. H., 607; after-effects of antitoxin, 622; antitoxin treatment at Stuttgart, 626.

Djamboe, 227.

Dock, G. A case of osteomalacia, 17.

Douglas, R. Acute peritonitis, 645.

Dudley, E. C. Myomectomy considered as a substitute for hysterectomy, 295.

Dulles, C. W. Notes on fractures of the humerus at the elbow-joint, 208, 221; hydrophobia statistics desired, 303.

Dwight, T. The range and significance of variation in the human skeleton, 73, 97; recent progress in anatomy, 561.

Ear. The frequency of middle-ear disease in children, 327; a new instrument for the extraction of foreign bodies from the ear, Eldredge, S., 439; recent progress in otology, Blake, C. J., 460; a disordered peripheral pace organ, Spear, E. D., 532.

Edes, R. T. A new method for making palatable and digestible milk, 226.

Editorials. An international medical language, 18; suicide in the Prussian army, 19; notification of infectious diseases, 19; small-pox in Massachusetts; a review of its prevalence, 42; an indictment of asylum superintendents, 66; the Eighth International Congress of Hygiene and Demography, 68; the harm done by certain local modes of treatment in diphtheria; treatment of nasal diphtheria, 91; the health of Boston and Philadelphia, 92; Indian Medical Congress, 92; legislation relating to medical matters in Massachusetts, 118; the wound of President Carnot, 119; the prevention of contagious diseases, 146; Graham bread, 147; the sanitary disposal of the garbage and refuse of cities, 171; digitalis in pneumonia, 172; a new departure in connection with diabetes; Dr. Pavy's Croonian lectures, 197; the Bloomingdale Asylum, 198; the plague in China, 222; small-pox in the sweat-shops of Chicago, 222; immoral massage, 223; the hypodermic injection of mercurials in the treatment of syphilis, 246; red clover, 246; woman and the bicycle, 247; annual report of the Boston City Hospital, 274; is our race degenerating? 274; death of Professor von Helmholtz, 275; the antitoxin treatment of diphtheria, 298; Baron Mundy and the Vienna ambulance society, 300; ainhum, 322; the thyroid treatment of skin diseases, 323; statistics of renal surgery, 350; suicide in New York, 351; Oliver Wendell Holmes, 375; the surgery and physiology of the spleen, 399; special hospitals for consumptives, 400; report of the director of physical training in Boston's public schools, 421; the surgery of the stomach, 446; the mortality among Massachusetts school children, 447; general considerations on alcoholic cirrhosis of the liver, 470; death from hydrophobia, with unusual features, 471; Flechsig's opium-bromide treatment of epilepsy, 494; on immediate surgical interference in cases of perforation of the stomach by ulcer, 495; resurrection after electrocution, 495; the antitoxin of diphtheria, 496; the microbiology of meningitis, 518; a dangerous knock-out blow, 519; the physician as tradesman, 519; bovine tuberculosis in Massachusetts, 541; primary amputations in the traumatisms of civil life, 542; football at Springfield, 543; occlusion of the mesenteric artery, 566; a case of embolism of the abdominal aorta, 567; football, 568; diphtheria antitoxin in New York, 569; pancreatic diabetes, 592; annual report of the Surgeon-General, 593; instruction in therapeutics; physician's prescriptions, 594; trephining for tuberculous meningitis, 622; after-effects of antitoxin, 623; the need of a registration law in Maine, 623; Annus Medicus MDCCCXCIV, 648.

Education. The association of American medical colleges, 21; the study of pathology in Germany, Mallory, F. B., 22, 123; method of study for medical students and young medical graduates, Axtell, E. R., 79; Harvard Medical Alumni Association, 113; hygiene in university education, Billings, J. S., 125; increased clinical features of the University of Pennsylvania Medical School, 378; the educational aspect of college athletics, Conant, W. M., 381, 393; report of the director of physical training in Boston's public schools, 421; reminiscences of the Harvard Medical School in 1846, Galloupe, I. F., 426.

Effertz. A case of hysteria, 490.

Ehrmann. Henna, 47.

Elbow. Notes on fractures of the humerus at the elbow-joint, Dulles, C. W., 208, 221; position in the treatment of elbow-joint fractures, Smith, H. L., 386, 398, 411.

Eldridge, S. A new instrument for the extraction of foreign bodies from the ear, 439.

Electric accidents. First aid in electric accidents, 353.

Electrocution. Resurrection after electrocution, 495.

Elliot, J. W. An impacted gall-stone removed by opening the common duct, the wound in the duct being closed by suture, 83, 85.

Emergency Hospital. Is the Emergency Hospital a charitable institution? 523.

Empyema. Lyons, W. H. A., 270.

Engelmann, G. J. History of vaginal extirpation of the uterus, 645.

Epilepsy. Flechsig's opium-bromide treatment of epilepsy, 494.

Ethics. The code question from the point of view of the general practitioner, Robinson, D. A., 169.

Ethyl. Note on the bromide of ethyl, Cumston, C. G., 613, 618.

Etiquette. Medical etiquette among the ancients, 149.

Evans, J. Simultaneous appearance of cancer in breast and uterus, 646.

Ewald, C. A. Berlin letter; the new treatment for diphtheria, 521.

Extracts. The successful treatment of a case of infantile myxedema with thyroid extract, Mosler, W., 143; myxedema treated with sheep's thyroid, Ayres, S., 319.

Eye. Pink eye, glaucoma and iritis, errors of refraction, Carvelle, H. D. W., 272; recurrent oculo-motor paralysis, Knapp, P. C., 308, 321; a study of the eyes of 220 school children in the Worcester city schools, Swasey, E., 408; recent progress in ophthalmology, Standish, M., 641.

Farenholt, A. An abnormally located cecum, 427.

Farlow, J. W. Removal of the larynx, 163.

Farms. Sanitary condition of dairy farms, Parker, J. M., 528.

Fisher, E. D. Thrombosis of the central arteries, 491.

Fisk, S. A. Some meteorological data, 253; a case of diabetes insipidus, 415.

Fitz, R. H. The legislative control of medical practice, 1, 25.

Flechsig's opium-bromide treatment of epilepsy, 494.

Food. An aid to the sterilization of milk in artificial infant feeding, Seibert, A., 117; "Charaka-Samhita."—Observations on diet, 122; Graham bread, 147; imperfectly sterilized milk, Buckingham, E. M., 160; food, drugs and articles of domestic use, report on, Davenport, B. F., 212; a new method for making palatable and digestible milk, Edes, R. T., 226; sterilization of bread, 249.

Foot. The anterior transverse arch of the foot, its obliteration as a cause of metatarsalgia, Goldthwait, J. E., 233, exsection of the astragalus, Burns, R., 270.

Football. The attractions of football for intellectual men, Richards, E. L., 354; football at Springfield, 543; a Frenchman's impressions of football, 570.

Fordyce. Adeno-carcinoma of the skin starting in the sweat-glands, 64.

Formento, F. The prevention of the spread of yellow fever, 374.

Foster, B. Marriage of syphilitics, statistics desired, 327.

Foster, B. B. The treatment of hemorrhoids by clamps and cautery, 168.

Foster, C. C. Treatment of congenital dislocation of the hip, 547.

Fox. Folliculitis decalvans, 41.

Fractures. Notes on fractures of the humerus at the elbow-joint, Dulles, C. W., 208, 221; five cases of compound fracture of the ankle-joint, Balch, F. G., 210, 214; ununited fractures, Adams, D. S., 268; position in the treatment of elbow-joint fractures, Smith, H. L., 386, 398.

Fruitnight, J. H. Infantile scurvy, especially its differential diagnosis, 117.

Fuller, E. M. Typhoid fever, with some new notions regarding its treatment, 168.

Galloupe, I. F. Reminiscences of the Harvard Medical School in 1846, 426; reminiscences of the Harvard Medical School in the year 1846, 626.

Gall-Stones. An impacted gall-stone removed by opening the common duct, the wound in the duct being closed by sutures, Elliot, J. W., 83, 85; gall-stones, Richardson, M. H., 440.

Galvanic Current. Experimental investigations on the physical and chemical action of the galvanic current upon the living organisms, Jacobi, G. W., and Schwyzer, F., 320.

Garbage. The sanitary disposal of the garbage and refuse of cities, 171; the disposal of garbage and refuse, Hering, K., 374.

Gauvreau, E. The culture and collection of vaccine lymph, 373.

Generative System. The mild character and diminished prevalence of syphilis and the infrequency of visceral syphilis, Musser, J. H., 15; recent progress in genito urinary surgery, Watson, F. S., 37; an ovarian cyst simulating a strangulated umbilical hernia, Hopkins, G. G., 84; ichthyol in gynecology, Storer, M., 105; an ovarian dermoid that discharged through the bladder for three years before operation and cure, Hare, C. H., 135, 144; malignant disease of the uterus, Trowbridge, E. H., 177; a summary of the history and present position of the operation of castration for hypertrophy of the prostate, White, J. W., 192; urine leakage and stricture formation, Bryson, J. P., 218; the possibility of overcoming permanent stricture of the deep urethra without resort to external urethrotomy, White, J. B., 219; a plea for the excision of the initial lesion, King, E. E., 220; epithelioma of the penis, Martin, E., 220; inflammation of the seminal vesicles, Taylor, R. W., 242; a mixed malignant growth of the testis, Taylor, R. W., 244; the decline of the pessary, Blake, J. G., 285; some cases of retroversion, Washburn, G. H., 291; extirpation of the uterus in disease of adnexa, Baldy, J. M., 292; hysterectomy in bilateral disease of the appendages, Baldy, J. M., 292; the abuse of trachelorraphy, Pryor, W. R., 294; myomectomy considered as a substitute for hysterectomy, Dudley, E. C., 295; retro-peritoneal and intra-ligamentous tumors of the uterus and adnexa, Wathen, W. H., 295; proper position of recent surgical methods in the treatment of uterine fibroids, Lusk, W. T., 296; rupture of the uterus, palliative versus surgical treatment, 296; palliative treatment of rupture of the uterus, McLean, M., 296; the influence of laceration of the perineum on the uterus, and the operation for its repair, Wylie, W. G., 297; the ultimate results of the treatment of retro-displacements by pessaries, Davenport, F. H., 297; total extirpation of the uterus by a new method, Tuttle, A. H., 389; ablation of ovaries and tubes for hystero-epilepsy, with entire relief from symptoms since operation, Meigs, J. V., 392; some observations on chronic vesiculitis, with report of four cases, Thompson, J. M., 435; a case of fibro-cystic disease of both ovaries, total extirpation of the tumor and uterus, recovery, Hogner, R., 485; cases from the uterine ward of the City Hospital, Blake, J. G., 609, 617; a review of a summer's work in the gynecological service of the Boston City Hospital, Starbird, E. P., 613, 618; gonorrhœa in women, Holmes, J. B. S., 618; history of vaginal extirpation of the uterus, Engelmann, G. J., 645; simultaneous appearance of cancer in breast and uterus, Evans, J., 646; seven cases of varicocele treated by incision, ligation and shortening of the scrotum, Parker, W. E., 646; fibroid tumor of the uterus, with suppurative ovary discharging per rectum, Hall, R. B., 646; the removal of an intra-uterine fibroid tumor by morcellement, without hemorrhage, Nash, H. W., 647.

Getchell, A. C. Hemorrhage after operations on the nasal septum, 9.

Giddings, W. P. Surgical demands in country practice, 131.

Gilchrist. Protozoa dermatitis, 66.

Goldthwait, J. E. The anterior transverse arch of the foot, its obliteration as a cause of metatarsalgia, 233.

Gonorrhœa in women, Holmes, J. B. S., 618.

Gordon, S. C. Cases of abdominal section, 170.

Gorilla. The roaring-box humana, Bishop, E. T., 525.

Graham bread, 147.

Graham, D. The effects of warm douches, massage and friction upon the expansion of the lungs, 559.

Green, C. M. A physician's services gratefully remembered, 247; rupture of the uterus, palliative versus surgical treatment, 296.

Griffith, J. D. Innocuous transportation of the dead, 372.

Griffith, J. P. C. Tetany in America, 14.

Guignabert. Treatment of tuberculous peritonitis, 226.

Gunja-smoking in the "Pukhys," Bose, K. C., 250.

Gynecology. Recent progress in gynecology, Davenport, F. H., 366.

Haffkine. Anti-cholera inoculations, 201.

"Hail Horrors!" 70.

Hall, R. B. Fibroid tumor of the uterus, with suppurative ovary discharging per rectum, 646.

Hammond, W. A. Mercyism, 347.

Hankin, E. H. The holy well at Mecca, 70.

Hare, C. H. An ovarian dermoid that discharged through the bladder for three years before operation and cure, 135, 144.

Hare, H. A. Posture in anesthesia accidents; the use of sedatives in heart disease; the efficiency of ichthyol on impaired tissues, 418.

Hartzell. The protozoa-like bodies of herpes zoster, 64.

Harvard Medical Alumni Association, 115, 136.

Hedley, W. S. First aid in electric accidents, 353.

Hemorrhoids. The treatment of hemorrhoids by clamp and cautery, Foster, B. B., 168.

Henna. Ehrmann, 47.

Hering, R. The disposal of garbage and refuse, 374.

Hewes, H. F. Two cases of gonorrheal rheumatism, with specific bacterial organisms in the blood, 515.

Hills, W. B. Chronic arsenical poisoning, an analysis of 260 specimens of urine, 453, 474, 477; on the occurrence of lead in city drinking-waters, 632.

Hingston, W. H. Stone in the bladder, choice of operation, 218.

Hinsdale, G., and Taylor, J. M. Crossed knee-jerk, 320.

Hip. Lateral traction in hip-disease, Page, C. G., 263; acute infantile arthritis in the hip, Thorndike, A., 432, 440, 456; congenital dislocations of the hip, Davis, H. G., 523; treatment of congenital dislocation of the hip, Foster, C. C., 547.

Hodgdon, A. H. Comments on a case of homicide, 363, 370.

Hodgetts, C. A. The management of epidemics of diphtheria in rural districts, 372.

Hoff, J. v. R. The military medical officer in peace and war, 549, 573, 601.

Hogner, R. A case of fibro-cystic disease of both ovaries, total extirpation of the tumor and uterus, recovery, 485.

Holden, C. S. Suicide or homicide, a case for medico-legal diagnosis, 364, 370.

Holmes, J. B. S. Gonorrhœa in women, 618.

Holmes, O. W. Memoir, 375; an unpublished poem, 377; bibliography of his writings, 379; medical tributes to Dr. Holmes, 123, 149; Alma Mater, 451; memorial meeting, 584.

Holt, M. E. Acute pyelitis in infancy, 143.

Homans, John. A case of perityphlitic abscess in a child four years old, in which the appendix was not the cause of the abscess, recovery, 589.

Hopkins, G. O. An ovarian cyst simulating a strangulated umbilical hernia, 84.

Hoyt, J. E. Puerperal sepsis, 268.

Huber, F. Congenital constipation, 115.

Humbert, King of Italy. King Humbert and the cholera epidemic at Naples, 425.

Hurd, E. P. Was it murder or suicide, 577, 584.

Hurd, H. M. Some mental disorders of childhood and youth, 281.

Hydrophobia. Hydrophobia statistics desired, Dulles, C. W., 303; death from hydrophobia, with unusual features, 471.

Hygiene, Health and Boards of Health. Hygiene in university education, Billings, J. S., 125; the prevention of contagious disease, 146; hygienic notes made on a short journey through Italy in 1894, Nuttall, G. F., 351; the cart before the horse, Lee, 371; water-supply of Montreal, Johnston, W., 371; the ground water-supply of Brooklyn, Bell, A. N., 371; report of the special committee on pollution of water-supplies, Smart, C., 371; the management of epidemics of diphtheria in rural districts, Hodgetts, C. A., 372; the practical difficulties experienced by officers of health in dealing with cases of diphtheria, Bryce, P. H., 372; vaccination as a preventive of contagious diseases, Laberge, J. E., 372; innocuous transportation of the dead, Griffith, J. D., 372; address before the American Public Health Association, LaChapelle, E. P., 372; the culture and collection of vaccine lymph, Gauvreau, E., 373; the restriction and prevention of tuberculosis, Wordin, N. E., 373; consumptives should not marry, Paquin, P., 373; segregation of consumptives in arid regions, Sewall, 373; the quarantine station and the methods employed at Grosse Isle, below Quebec, Montizambert, F., 373; the influence of inebriety upon public health, Crothers, T. D., 373; vaccine and vaccination, Walsh, R., 373; the prevention of the spread of yellow fever, Formento, F., 374; the disposal of garbage and refuse, Hering, R., 374; car sanitation, Conn, G. P., 374; Jersey City water, 425; President Cleveland recommends a National Board of Health, 597.

Hypnosis. The first recorded death in hypnosis, 474.

Ichthyol. Ichthyol in gynecology, Storer, M., 104; the efficacy of ichthyol in inflamed tissues, Hare, H. A., 418.

Index Medicus, 626.

Indians. The medicine-men among the Crow Indians, 483.

Indian Medical Congress, 92.

Inebriety. The influence of inebriety upon public health, Crothers, T. D., 373.

Infant mortality in London, 226.

Infectious Diseases. Notification of infectious diseases, 19.

Influenza. The nature of influenza, Stewart, 251.

Instruments and Apparatus. The decline of the pessary, Blake, J. G., 285, 291; neurological percussion hammer, Krauss, W. C., 320; the improved high tension coil, Rockwell, A. D., 469; a convenient form of ether cone, Blake, J. B., 647.

Irish, J. C. Appendicitis, report of three cases, 109.

Jackson, G. T. Thyroid feeding in diseases of the skin, 10.

Jackson, H. A few cases illustrative of the diagnostic value of an examination of the blood, 633, 643.

Jacobi, A. Stomatitis neurotica chronica, 249.

Jacobi, G. W., and Schwyzer, F. Experimental investigations on the physical and chemical action of the galvanic current upon the living organism, 320.

Japan. Status and pay of Japanese army surgeons, 571.

Jaw. A dangerous knock-out blow, 519; the dangers in sparring from blows upon the jaw, Walton, G. L., 545.

Jelly, G. F. A case of mental shock, 629, 643.

Jersey City water, 425.

Jewett, M. A. Some experiences with Asiatic cholera in Asia, 137.

Johnson, J. T. Hydro-pyonephrosis; successful removal of a forty-pound tumor of the kidney, 621.

Johnston, G. B. Movable kidney, 644.

Johnston, W. Water-supply of Montreal, 371.

Journals. An appeal to the British Medical Journal and the Lancet, 473.

Keen, W. W. Address before the Harvard Medical Alumni Association, 138.

Keene, G. F. "Mens sana in corpore sano," 335.

Kidneys. A case of movable kidney, Scudder, C. L., 217; statistics of renal surgery, 350.

King, E. E. A plea for the excision of the initial lesion, 220.

Knapp, P. C. Spinal concussion, traumatic spinal sclerosis, 4, 30; recurrent oculo-motor paralysis, 308, 321.

Knee. White swelling of the knee, Scudder, C. L., 101.

Knock-out Blow. A dangerous knock-out blow, 519; physiology of the knock-out blow, Seymour, W. W., 599.

Kollock, C. Annual Address before the Southern Surgical and Gynecological Association, 620.

Korea. Letter from Korea, Stephenson, F. B., 175.

Krauss, W. C. Neurological percussion hammer, 320.

Krug, F. Hysterectomy in bilateral disease of the appendages, 292.

Laberge, J. E. Vaccination as a preventive of contagious diseases, 372.

LaChapelle, E. P. Address before the American Public Health Association, 372.

Langmaid, S. W. The treatment of laryngeal phthisis, 59.

Language. An international medical language, 18.

Laparotomy. What shall we do with tender and painful stumps after laparotomy? Robinson, B., 365.

Larynx. The treatment of laryngeal phthisis, Langmaid, S. W., 59; removal of the larynx, Farlow, J. W., 163.

Lawrie. The cause of death from chloroform, 226.

Lead. Lead palsy in children, with a report of three cases, Sinkler, W., 14.

Lee. The cart before the horse, 371.

Legal Medicine. What cases shall the medical examiner "view"? Mead, J. A., 362, 369; comments on a case of homicide, Hodgdon, A. H., 363, 370; suicide or homicide? a case for medico-legal diagnosis, Holden, C. S., 364, 370; chemical importance of the ptomaines or cadaveric alkaloids in medico-legal analysis, McVey, W. B., 458; death supposed to have been caused by violence, Adams, Z. B., 576, 583; was it murder or suicide? 577, 584.

Legislation. The legislative control of medical practice, Fitz, R. H., 1, 25; legislation relating to medical matters in Massachusetts, 118.

Leprosy. The contagiousness and control of leprosy, White, J. C., 405.

Leukemia. Leukemia in infants, Morse, J. L., 133; acute leukemia, Cabot, R. C., 507, 517.

Lingua Geographica, 46.

Lip. Fairly extensive causes of upper lip excision; freedom from recurrence at end of three years, Powers, C. A., 640.

Lister, J. Testimonial to Sir Joseph Lister, 599.

Liver. A case of acute yellow atrophy of the liver; a case of rapid sarcomatosis, Shattuck, F. C., 82; general considerations on alcoholic cirrhosis of the liver, 470.

London. Infant mortality in London, 226.

Lothrop, H. A. A report of three cases of embolus of the mesenteric artery, with remarks on the subject, 557, 564.

Lund, F. B. Cancer of the sigmoid flexure, perforation of the cancerous ulcer, death, autopsy, 211, 217; a case of acne rosacea hypertrophica, with operation, 267.

Lusk, W. T. Proper position of recent surgical methods in the treatment of uterine fibroids, 296.

Lyman, H. M. Gastro-enteric rheumatism, 17.
Lyons, W. H. A. Empyema, 270.
McCollom, J. H. The protective power of vaccination, 229.
McIntire, H. B. A case of cystic disease of the kidney, 185.
McLean, M. Palliative treatment of rupture of the uterus, 296.
McVey, W. B. Chemical importance of the ptomaines or cadaveric alkaloids in medico-legal analysis, 458.
Maine Insane Asylum, report of the visitors, 169.
Malaria. Two unusual cases of malaria, one of remittent fever followed by death, the other a marked intermittent, successfully treated, Cutler, E. G., 237, 239; the temperature as a guide in the administration of quinine in malaria, Williams, F. H., 478.
Mallory, F. B. The study of pathology in Germany, 22, 123.
Mann, M. D. Inflammation of the ureters from a medical standpoint, 297.
Marcy, H. O. Pathological specimens, 564.
Martin, E. Epithelioma of the penis, 229.
Martindale. Analysis of twelve thousand prescriptions, 71.
Massage. Massage in the Society Islands, 202; immoral massage, 223; the effects of warm douches, massage and friction upon the expansion of the lungs, Graham, D., 559.
Materia Medica and Therapeutics. Henna, Ehrmann, 17; ichthyol in gynecology, Storer, M., 104; digitalis in pneumonia, 173; djambor, 227; the hypodermic injection of mercurials in the treatment of syphilis, 246; red clover, 246; ganja-smoking and the "Pukhys," 250; antitoxin treatment of diphtheria, 258; the use of sedatives in heart disease, Hare, H. A., 418; the efficacy of ichthyol in inflamed tissues, Hare, H. A., 418; the temperature as a guide in the administration of quinine in malaria, Williams, F. H., 478; the antitoxin of diphtheria, 496; report on therapeutics, Williams, F. H., 581; instruction in therapeutics: physician's prescriptions, 594; a few cases of diphtheria treated with antitoxin, Williams, F. H., 607; note on the bromide of ethyl, Cumston, C. G., 613, 618; report on therapeutics, Williams, F. H., 615.
Mead, J. A. What cases shall the medical examiner "view?" 362, 369.
Measles. A case of malignant measles, Wilson, J. C., 116.
Mecca. The holy well at Mecca, 70.
Medical Examiner. What cases shall the medical examiner "view?" Mead, J. A., 362, 369.
Medical profession and socialism, Oliver, T., 202.
Meigs, J. V. Ablation of ovaries and tubes for hystero-epilepsy, with entire relief from symptoms since operation, 392.
"Mens sana in corpore sano," Keene, G. F., 335.
Mercyism. Hammond, W. A., 317.
Meteorology. Some meteorological data, Fisk, S. A., 253.
Michaux. On immediate surgical interference in cases of perforation of the stomach by ulcer, 495.
Military medical officer in peace and war, Hoff, J. v. R., 549, 573, 601.
Milk. An aid to the sterilization of milk in artificial infant-feeding, Seibert, A., 117; imperfectly sterilized milk, Buckingham, E. M., 160; a new method of making palatable and digestible milk, 226.
Mills, C. K., and Zimmer, J. Circumscribed softening of the pons, and in the same case of the internal capsule, caudatum and lenticula, 344.
Mind. Tuberculosis in mental disease, Channing, W., 62; an indictment of asylum superintendents, 66; some mental disorders of childhood and youth, Hurd, H. M., 281; "mens sana in corpore sano," Keene, G. F., 335; the treatment of convalescence and the after-care of the insane, Stedman, H. R., 345; case of infantile hemiplegia, imbecility and epilepsy; craniotomy, marked improvement, Angell, E. B., 346; M. Paul Bourget and American hospitals for the insane, 449; a case of mental shock, Jelly, G. F., 629, 633.
Mirror writer, Acker, G. N., 141.
"Model surgical clinic," 355.
Montizambert, F. The quarantine station and the methods employed at Grosse Isle, below Quebec, 573.
Montreal. Water-supply of Montreal, Johnston, W., 371.
Morrill, F. G. The antitoxin treatment of diphtheria at the Trousseau Hospital, 547.
Morse, J. L. Leukemia in infants, 133.
Mortality among Massachusetts school children, 147.
Morton, W. J. A new neuroglia stain, 320.
Mosler, W. The successful treatment of a case of myxedema with thyroid extract, 143.
Mumford, J. G. Appendicitis, 110.
Musser, J. H. The mild character and diminished prevalence of syphilis and the infrequency of visceral syphilis, 15.
Myxedema. Infantile myxedema, Northrup, W. T., 143; the successful treatment of a case of infantile myxedema with thyroid extract, Mosler, W., 143; myxedema treated with sheep's thyroid, Ayres, S., 349; the thyroid treatment of skin diseases, 323.
Nash, H. M. The removal of an intra-uterine fibroid tumor by morcellement without hemorrhage, 647.
Negro as a hospital interne, 70.
Nervous System. Spinal concussion, traumatic spinal sclerosis, Knapp, P. C., 5, 30; tetany in America, Griffith, J. P. C., 14; lead palsy in children, with a report of three cases, Sinkler, W., 14; a study of the temperature in cerebral apoplexy, Dana, C. L., 15; bacteriology of eclampsia, Bar and Renon, 21; puerperal eclampsia, a report of three cases, Arnold, H. D., 32; the influence of venous congestion on the spinal reflex centres, Rachford, B. K., 115; the nutritional element in the causation of neuroses, Christopher, W. S., 142; stomatitis neurotica chronica, Jacobi, A., 249; recurrent oculo-motor paralysis, Knapp, P. C., 308, 321; neurological percussion hammer, Krauss, W. C., 320; a new neuroglia stain, Morton, W. J., 320; crossed knee-jerk, Hinsdale, G., and Taylor, J. M., 320; circumscribed softening of the pons, and in the same case of the internal capsule, caudatum and lenticula, Mills, C. K., and Zimmer, J., 344; lesion of thalamus, death from intestinal hemorrhage, Sinkler, W., 344; cerebral hemorrhage, its cause and premonitory symptoms, Dana, C. L., 541; lumbar puncture for the removal of cerebro-spinal fluid, Browning, W., 345; case of infantile hemiplegia, imbecility and epilepsy; craniotomy, marked improvement, Angell, E. B., 346; infantile amyotrophic lateral sclerosis of the family type, Brown, C. H., 346; two cases of ingravescent cerebral hemorrhage treated by ligation of the common carotid artery, Dercum, F. X., and Keen, W. W., 347; mercyism, Hammond, W. A., 347; a case of hystero-epilepsy in a man, Thornton, J. B., 416; removal of the gasserian ganglion for facial neuralgia, Richardson, M. H., and Walton, G. L., 429; a case of spina bifida, Seelye, R. H., 438; sarcoma of the sciatic nerve, exsection of nerve and suture, Richardson, M. H., 440; a case of tabes, with homonymous hemianopsia, Peterson, F., 468; a case of paralysis agitans with tremor, Peterson, F., 468; a case of bradycardia, Rockwell, A. D., 468; the improved high tension coil, Rockwell, A. D., 469; death from hydrophobia, with unusual features, 471; a case of hysteria, Ellertz, 490; thrombosis of the central arteries, Fisher, E. D., 491; hemorrhagic necrosis of the spinal cord, Fisher, E. D., 491; Flechsig's opium-bromide treatment of epilepsy, 494; the microbiology of meningitis, 518; observations on the action of chloroform on the functions of the human brain and spinal cord, as witnessed in extensive injuries of the cranium and brain, Brown, B., 620; trephining for tuberculous meningitis 622; some observations on tubercular meningitis, Austin, A. E., 636.
Nevus. A severe case of nevus which was only cured by the use of galvano-puncture, Nicolson, W. P., 620.
Nicolson, W. P. A severe case of nevus, which was only cured by the use of galvano-puncture, 620.
Noble, C. P. Symphysiotomy versus the induction of premature labor, 298.
Noble, G. H. A case of carcinoma of the parturient uterus, removed three days after confinement, recovery, 645.
Nomenclature. Report of committee on nomenclature of diseases of the mouth and gastro-enteric tract, Roteh, T. M., 143.
Northrup, W. T. A case of cyanosis, 142; infantile myxedema, 143.
Nose. Hemorrhage after operations on the nasal septum, Getchell, A. C., 9; deformities of the septal cartilage, Coolidge, A., Jr., 158, 166.
Nutritional element in the causation of neuroses, Christopher, W. S., 142.
Nuttall, G. F. Hygienic notes made on a short journey through Italy in 1894, 371.
Obstetrics. Recent progress in obstetrics, Reynolds, E., 111.
Ogden, J. B. Three cases of Bright's disease of different types, 305, 318.
Oldtown. Oldtown gynecological reminiscences, 497; a word from Odertown, 523.
Oliver, T. The medical profession and socialism, 202.
O'Neil, J. B. A successful case of symphysiotomy, 170.
Orthopraxy. The early diagnosis of Pott's disease of the spine in children, Brown, D., 143; lateral traction in hip-disease, Page, C. G., 263.
Osgood, F. H. Tuberculosis in cattle, 55.
Osler, W. Address before the Harvard Medical Alumni Association, 139.
Osteomalacia. A case of osteomalacia, Dock, G., 17.
Otis, E. O. Climatic therapeutics in the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis, 51.
Page, C. G. Lateral traction in hip-disease, 263.
Palate. Adenoid vegetations and cleft palate, Coolidge, A., Jr., 163.
Palmer, H. B. Puerperal eclampsia, 108.
Paquin, P. Consumptives should not marry, 373.
Parker, J. M. Sanitary condition of dairy farms, 528.
Parker, W. E. Memorial Address on Dr. Warren Stone, 618; seven cases of varicocele treated by incision, ligation and shortening of the scrotum, 646.
Pathology. The study of pathology in Germany, Mallory, F. B., 22, 123.
Peckham, F. E. Chronic tubercular peritonitis in children, 287.
Perineum. The influence of laceration of the perineum on the uterus, and the operation for its repair, Wylie, W. G., 297; operation for complete perineal laceration, Price, J., 620.
Peritonitis. Acute peritonitis, Douglas, R., 645.
Pertussis. Certain peculiarities of the urine in pertussis, Blumenthal, 47.
Pessary. The decline of the pessary, Blake, J. G., 285, 291.
Peters, A. The prevalence of bovine tuberculosis, 525.
Peterson, F. Exophthalmic goitre treated by thyroidectomy, 319; a case of tabes, with homonymous hemianopsia, 468; a case of paralysis agitans, with tremor, 468.
Petri, Kolb and Friedrich. Disease germs in European railroad carriages, 94.
Philadelphia. The health of Boston and Philadelphia, 92.
Phthisis. Experimental phthisis in rabbits with the formation of cavities, a demonstration, Prudden, T. M., 16; cough induced by posture as a symptom nearly diagnostic of phthisis, Bridge, N., 17; the treatment of laryngeal phthisis, Langmaid, S. W., 59; home treatment of phthisis, Sabine, G. K., 61; special hospitals for consumptives, 466.
Physician. The American physician as seen by a Frenchman, Baudouin, 200.
Plague. Plague in China, 222; the origin of the plague in China, 450.
Pneumonia. Digitalis in pneumonia, 172.
Poisons. Lead palsy in children, with a report of three cases, Sinkler, W., 14; the chemical products of the anerobic putrefaction of pancreatic and hepatic tissues and their effects upon the tests for morphine, Vaughan, V. C., 17; the malicious use of snake-poison, 430; chronic arsenical poisoning, Hills, W. B., 453.
Polk, W. M. Address before the Harvard Medical Alumni Association, 140.
Pott's Disease. The early diagnosis of Pott's disease of the spine in children, Brown, D., 143.
Powers, C. A. Fairly extensive causes of upper lip excision; freedom from recurrence at end of three years, 640.
Practice of Medicine. The legislative control of medical practice, Fitz, R. H., 1, 25; legislation relating to medical matters in Massachusetts, 118; the specialist and the general practitioner, Duhring, L. A., 201.
Prando, P. P. The medicine men among the Crow Indians, 483.
Pregnancy, affections connected with. Puerperal eclampsia, a report of three cases, Arnold, H. D., 32; recent progress in obstetrics, Reynolds, Edward, 111; the frequency of puerperal sepsis in Massachusetts, its diagnosis and efficient treatment, Reynolds, E., 153; puerperal eclampsia, Palmer, H. B., 168; four pregnancies in a woman with double uterus and vagina, Way, G. W., 169; a successful case of symphyseotomy, O'Neil, J. B., 170; cases of abdominal section, Gordon, S. C., 170; symphyseotomy for the relative indication, with complications, Davis, E. P., 182; puerperal sepsis, Hoyt, J. E., 268; laceration of the cervix uteri, Stillings, F. A., 271; a case of accidental concealed hemorrhage, Reynolds, E., 289, 292; the management of face presentations, Reynolds, E., 293; fatal nausea and vomiting of pregnancy, Wathen, E. P., 295; rupture of the uterus, palliative versus surgical treatment, Green, C. M., 296; palliative treatment of rupture of the uterus, McLean, M., 296; symphyseotomy versus the induction of premature labor, Noble, C. P., 298; hydramnion with hydrocephalus, requiring craniotomy, Cunningham, T. E., 580; a case of symphyseotomy, Wheeler, L., 639; a case of carcinoma of the parturient uterus, removed three days after confinement, recovery, Noble, G. H., 645.

Prescott. A case of death due to the inhalation of vomitus in a strong and healthy child aged three and a half years, 190; a case of death from acute, purulent peritonitis due to sepsis caused by tapping the sac of a scrotal hernia, 191.

Price, J. Operation for complete perineal laceration, 620.

Prudden, T. M. Experimental phthisis in rabbits, with the formation of cavities, a demonstration, 16.

Pryor, W. R. The abuse of tracheiorraphy, 294.

Ptomaines. Chemical importance of the ptomaines or cadaveric alkaloids in medico-legal analysis, McVey, W. B., 458.

Puerperal Sepsis. The frequency of puerperal sepsis in Massachusetts, its diagnosis and efficient treatment, Reynolds, E., 153.

Quinine exanthem, Allen, 65.

Race. Is our race degenerating? 274.

Rachford, B. K. The influence of venous congestion on the spinal reflex centres, 115.

Recent Progress. Diseases of children, Rotch, T. M., 11; obstetrics, Reynolds, E., 111; thoracic diseases, Sears, G. G., 186; food, drugs and articles of domestic use, Davenport, B. F., 242; dermatology, Bowen, J. T., 315, 341; gynecology, Davenport, F. H., 366; otology, Blake, C. J., 460; surgery, Burrell, H. L., and Cushing, H. W., 485; anatomy, Dwight, T., 561; therapeutics, Williams, F. H., 581; therapeutics, Williams, F. H., 615; ophthalmology, Standish, M., 641.

Rectal Tube. Dangers of the long rectal tube, Cripps, H., 278.

Registration. The need of a registration law in Maine, 623.

Remuneration. The physician's remuneration as seen by a lawyer, 94.

Respiratory System. Experimental phthisis in rabbits, with the formation of cavities, a demonstration, Prudden, T. M., 16; cough induced by posture, as a symptom nearly diagnostic of phthisis, Bridge, N., 17; three years' experience with sanitarium treatment of pulmonary diseases near Boston, Bowditch, V. Y., 27, 49; climatic therapeutics in the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis, Otis, E. O., 51; home treatment of phthisis, Sabine, G. K., 61; remarks on tuberculosis, Shattuck, F. C., 63; removal of the larynx, Farlow, J. W., 163; digitalis in pneumonia, 172; the influence of polities on pulmonary therapeutics, 175; remarks on certain accidents occurring in pulmonary tuberculosis in childhood, Cumston, C. G., 179; recent progress in thoracic diseases, Sears, G. G., 186; the nature of influenza, Stewart, 251; empyema, Lyons, W. H. A., 270; the treatment of the so-called incurable purulent pleurisies by the siphon, Cumston, C. G., 502; the effects of warm douches, massage and friction upon the expansion of the lungs, Graham, D., 559.

Reynolds, E. Recent progress in obstetrics, 111; the frequency of puerperal sepsis in Massachusetts; its diagnosis and efficient treatment, 153; a case of accidental concealed hemorrhage, 289, 292; the management of face presentations, 293.

Rheumatism. Gastro-enteric rheumatism, Lyman, H. M., 17.

Richards, E. L. Attraction of football for intellectual men, 354.

Richardson, A. G., Joslin, E. P., and Denny, F. P. A study of anemia cases with the aid of the hemometer and blood-counter, 183, 187.

Richardson, M. H. Cyanosis following the use of "cafebrin," 403; gall-stones, 440; sarcoma of the sciatic nerve, resection of nerve and suture, 440.

Richardson, M. H., and Walton, G. L. Removal of the Gasserian ganglion for facial neuralgia, successful case, 429.

Rickets. The influence of race, especially the Italian race, Wilson, J. C., 116; a case of congenital rickets, Townsend, C. W., 116.

Robinson, B. What shall we do with tender and painful stumps after laparotomy? 365.

Robinson, D. A. The code question from the standpoint of the general practitioner, 169.

Robinson, F. C. The chemistry of decomposition, 170.

Robinson, W. L. Gunshot wounds of the abdomen, lacerating the liver and bowel, 644.

Rockwell, A. D. A case of bradycardia, 408; the improved high tension coil, 469.

Rotch, T. M. Report on diseases in children, 11; report of committee on nomenclature of diseases of the mouth and of the gastro-enteric tract, 443.

Roux. Serum therapy in diphtheria, 325.

Russia. The mortality among Russian physicians, 571.

Ryder, G. Letter from Berlin, 302.

Sabine, G. K. Home treatment of phthisis, 61.

Sachs, B. Address before the American Neurological Association, 318.

Saline Injections. The subcutaneous injection of saline fluid in collapse from cholera morbus, Williams, H., 340.

Sanitarium. Three years' experience with sanitarium treatment of pulmonary diseases near Boston, Bowditch, V. Y., 27, 49.

Schaefer, T. W. The commercialization of medicine, or the physician as tradesman, 501.

Scientific investigations and the public, Balfour, 95.

Scudder, C. L. White swelling of the knee, 101; a case of movable kidney, 217.

Scurvy. Infantile scurvy, especially its differential diagnosis, Fruitnight, J. H., 117.

Sears, G. G. Recent progress in thoracic diseases, 186.

Seelye, R. H. A case of spina bifida, 438.

Seibert, A. An aid to the sterilization of milk in artificial infant feeding, 117.

Serum therapy in diphtheria, Roux, 325.

Sessions, W. R. The agricultural aspect of tuberculosis, 531, 533.

Sewall. Segregation of consumptives in arid regions, 373.

Seymour, W. W. Physiology of the knock-out blow, 599.

Shattock. The victims of cancer houses, 149.

Shattuck, F. C. Some remarks on t e significance of albumin and casts, especially in those past middle life, 16; remarks on tuberculosis, 63; a case of acute yellow atrophy of the liver; a case of rapid sarcomatosis, 82; some points in the modern treatment of typhoid fever, 604.

Shattuck, G. B. Remarks before the Harvard Medical Alumni Association, 142.

Sherwell. Harlequin fetus, 61.

Shorthand in medicine, 175.

Sinkler, W. Lead palsy in children, with a report of three cases, 11; lesion of thalamus, death from intestinal hemorrhage, 344.

Skeleton. The range and significance of variation in the human skeleton, Dwight, T., 73, 97.

"Sleeping Sickness" of West Africa, 278.

Small-Pox. Small-pox in Massachusetts, a review of its prevalence, 42; small-pox in the sweat-shops of Chicago, 222.

Smart, C. Report of the special committee on pollution of water-supplies, 371.

Smith, H. L. Position in the treatment of elbow-joint fractures, an experimental study, 386, 398, 411.

Snake Poison. The malicious use of snake poison, 450.

Snow, I. N. The influence of race (on rickets) especially the Italian race, 116.

Societies. American Dermatological Association, 40, 64; American Gynecological Society, 292; American Neurological Association, 318, 344; American Pediatric Society, 115, 142; American Public Health Association, 371; American Association of Genito-Urinary Surgeons, 191, 218, 242; Association of American Medical Colleges, 21; Association of American Physicians, 14; Boston Medical Library Association, 584; Boston Society for Medical Improvement, 163, 393, 441; Boston Society for Medical Observation, 144, 464, 643; College of Physicians of Philadelphia, 221; Harvard Medical Alumni Association, 113, 136, 570; Indian Medical Congress, 92; International Congress of Hygiene and Demography, 68, 273; Maine Medical Association, 168; Massachusetts Medical Society, 417; Massachusetts Medico-Legal Society, 369, 583; Massachusetts Veterinary Association, 533; New Hampshire Medical Society, 268; New York County Medical Association, 418; New York Neurological Society, 468, 490; New York State Medical Association, 141; Obstetrical Society of Boston, 291, 647; Southern Surgical and Gynecological Association, 618, 641; Suffolk District Medical Society, 84, 187, 214, 239, 317, 398, 516, 565.

Souchon, E. Reminiscences of Dr. J. Marion Sims in Paris, 615.

Spear, E. D. A disordered peripheral space-organ, 532.

Specialist and the general practitioner, Duhring, L. A., 201.

Spina bifida, Seelye, R. H., 438.

Spine. Spinal concussion, traumatic spinal sclerosis, Knapp, P. C., 4, 30; the early diagnosis of Pott's disease of the spine in children, Brown, D., 143.

Spleen. The physiology of the spleen, Vulpius, 150; the surgery and physiology of the spleen, 399.

Sprains and disabled joints, Bradford, E. H., 156, 163.

Standish, M. Recent progress in ophthalmology, 641.

Starbird, E. P. A review of a summer's work in the gynecological service of the Boston City Hospital, 613.

Stedman, H. R. The treatment of convalescence and the after-care of the insane, 345.

Stein, A. W. Exfoliation of the mucous and sub-mucous coats of the bladder, preceded by renal and vesical calculus, 219.

Stelwagon. Contagiousness of molluscum contagiosum, 64.

Stephenson, F. B. Letter from Korea, 175.

Sterilization. Sterilization of bread, 249; the Waltham Hospital sterilizer, 342.

Stewart. The nature of influenza, 251.

Stillings, S. A. Laceration of the cervix uteri, 271.

Stomach. The surgery of the stomach, 446.

Stomatitis neurotica chronica, Jacobi, A., 249.

Storer, M. Ichthyol in gynecology, 104.

Stumps. What shall we do with tender and painful stumps after laparotomy, Robinson, B., 365.

Suicide. Suicide in Prussian army, 19; suicide in New York, 351.

Surgery. Surgical demands in country practice, Giddings, W. P., 131; recent progress in surgery, Burrell, H. L., and Cushing, H. W., 485.

Swasey, E. A study of the eyes of 220 school children in the Worcester city schools, 408.

Swift, W. N. The technique of vaccination, 257.

Symphyseotomy for the relative indication, with complications, Davis, E. P., 182; a case of symphyseotomy, Wheeler, L., 639.

Syphilis. The mild character and diminished prevalence of syphilis, and the infrequency of visceral syphilis, Musser, J. H., 15; a plea for the excision of the initial lesion, King, E. E., 220; two cases of syphilis that have a bearing on the question of the period during which the disease is communicable, Beil, J., 244; the hypodermic injection of mercurials in the treatment of syphilis, 246; marriage of syphilitics, statistics desired, Foster, B., 327.

Taylor, R. W. Inflammation of the seminal vesicles, 242; a mixed malignant growth of the testis, 244.

Teeth. Odontalgia in the army of the Argentine Republic, 150.

Temperature. A study of the temperature in cerebral apoplexy, Dana, C. L., 15.

Tetany in America, Griffith, J. P. C., 14.

Thompson, J. W. Some observations on chronic vesiculitis, with report of four cases, 435.

Thorndike, A. Acute infantile arthritis in the hip, 432, 440, 456.

Thornton, J. B. A case of melena neonatorum and a case of hystero-epilepsy in a man, 416.

Thyroid. Thyroid feeding in diseases of the skin, Jackson, G. T., 40; myxedema treated by sheep's thyroid, Ayres, S., 319; the thyroid theory in Graves's disease, two cases treated by thyroidectomy, 319; exophthalmic goitre treated by thyroidectomy, Peterson, F., 319; the thyroid treatment of skin diseases, 323.

Tiffany, I. McI. Gunshot wound of the spleen and kidney, abdominal section, hemostasis by deep suture, recovery, 619.

Tongue. Lingua geographica, 46.

Tonsils. Tonsillotomy followed by diphtheria and croup, Caille, A., 115.

Townsend, C. W. A case of congenital rickets, 116.

Tradition. The medical profession and tradition, 597.

Trowbridge, E. H. Malignant disease of the uterus, 177.

Trudeau, G. L. A report of the ultimate results obtained in experimental eye tuberculosis by tuberculin treatment and anti-tubercular inoculation, 16.

Tuberculosis. Experimental phthisis in rabbits with the formation of cavities, a demonstration, Prudden, T. M., 16; a report of the ultimate results obtained in experimental eye tuberculosis by tuberculin treatment and anti-tubercular inoculation, Trudeau, G. L., 16; climatic therapeutics in the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis, Otis, E. O., 51; tuberculosis in cattle, Osgood, F. H., 55; the treatment of laryngeal phthisis, Langmaid, S. W., 59; home treatment of phthisis, Sabine, G. K., 61; tuberculosis in mental disease, Channing, W., 62; remarks on tuberculosis, Shattuck, F. C., 63; a case of primary tuberculosis of the female bladder diagnosed and treated by Howard Kelly's new method of direct inspection with large endoscopes, Burrage, W. L., 76; remarks on certain accidents occurring in pulmonary tuberculosis in children, Cumston, C. G., 179; treatment of tuberculous peritonitis, Guignabert, 226; chronic tubercular peritonitis in children, Peckham, F. E., 287; the restriction and prevention of tuberculosis, Wordin, N. E., 373; consumptives should not marry, Paquin, P., 373; segregation of consumptives in arid regions, Sewall, 373; special hospitals for consumptives, 400; discussion on tuberculosis, Briggs, H. M., and others, 441; the control of bovine tuberculosis, 449; the prevalence of bovine tuberculosis, Peters, A., 525, 533; diagnosis and prevention of bovine tuberculosis, Winchester, J. F., 526, 533; the agricultural aspect of tuberculosis, Sessions, W. R., 531, 533; bovine tuberculosis in Massachusetts, 541; some observations on tubercular meningitis, Austin, A. E., 636.

Tuttle, A. H. Total extirpation of the uterus by a new method, 389.

Typhoid Fever. Typhoid statistics, 150; typhoid fever with some new notions regarding its treatment, Fuller, E. M., 168; sponge baths and full baths in typhoid, Cabot, R. C., 290; some points in the modern treatment of typhoid fever, Shattuck, F. C., 604.

Urinary System. The mild character and diminished prevalence of syphilis and the infrequency of visceral syphilis, Musser, J. H., 15; some remarks on the significance of albumin and casts, especially in those past middle life, Shattuck, F. C., 16; recent progress in genito-urinary surgery, Watson, F. S., 37; the action of asparagus on the kidney, Yeo, B., 46; certain peculiarities of the urine in pertussis, Blumenthal, 47; a case of pulmonary tuberculosis of the female bladder, diagnosed and treated by Howard Kelly's new method of direct inspection with large endoscopes, Burrage, W. L., 76; acute pyelitis in infancy, Holt, M. E., 143; cases illustrating some of the more unusual causes of urinary retention, Watson, F. S., 161; a unique case of urinary calculi, Weeks, S. H., 169; a case of cystic disease of the kidney, McIntire, H. B., 185; modifications of Bigelow's operation for stone in the bladder, designed to meet cases in which the prostate is enlarged, Chismore, G., 191; a suggestion as to the removal of adeno-myomatous growths from the prostate, Alexander, S., 193; report of some cases of rupture of the urethra, Watson, F. S., 194; remarks on the treatment of cystitis, Allen, G. W., 194; a new departure in connection with diabetes; Dr. Pavy's Croonian lectures, 197; a case of movable kidney, Scudder, C. L., 217; aero-urethroscopy, with a new instrument, Otis, W. K., 218; stone in the bladder, choice of operation, Hingston, W. H., 218; urine-leakage and stricture formation, Bryson, J. P., 218, exfoliation of the mucous and sub-mucous coats of the bladder, preceded by renal and vesical calculus, Stein, A. W., 219; a unique case of renal calculi, Weeks, S. H., 235; the question of surgical interference in tuberculous kidney, Bryson, J. P., 243; a case of cystitis and pyonephrosis due to colon bacillus, requiring nephrectomy, Brown, F. T., 244; inflammation of the ureters from a medical standpoint, Mann, M. D., 297; three cases of Bright's disease of different types, Ogden, J. B., 305, 318; statistics of renal surgery, 350; a case of diabetes insipidus, Fisk, S. A., 415; hydropyonephrosis; successful removal of a forty-pound tumor of the kidney, Johnson, J. T., 621; movable kidney, Johnston, G. B., 644.

Vaccination. The protective power of vaccination, McCollom, J. H., 229; the technique of vaccination, Swift, W. N., 257; radical differences in methods of production and cultivation of vaccine lymph, Abbott, S. W., 259; vaccination as a preventive of contagious diseases, Laberge, J. E., 372; the culture and collection of vaccine lymph, Gauvreau, E., 373; vaccine and vaccination, Walsh, R., 373.

Van Giesen, J. Hemorrhagic necrosis of the spinal cord, 491.

Vaughan, V. C. The chemical products of the anerobic putrefaction of pancreatic and hepatic tissues, and their effects upon the tests for morphine, 17.

Vickery, H. F. Fatal vomiting without discoverable cause, 314, 317.

Vomiting. Fatal vomiting without discoverable cause, Vickery, H. F., 314, 317.

Vulpius. The physiology of the spleen, 150.

Walker, J. H. Intestinal parasites in beri-beri, 449.

Walsh, R. Vaccine and vaccination, 373.

Warren, J. C. Tumors of the breast, 7.

Washburn, G. H. Some cases of retroversion, 291.

Water. Potable water, Bartlett, E. J., 272; water-supply of Montreal, Johnston, W., 371; the ground water-supply of Brooklyn, Bell, A. N., 371; report of the special committee on pollution of water-supplies, Smart, C., 371; Jersey City water, 425; on the occurrence of lead in city drinking-waters, Hills, W. B., 632.

Wathen, W. H. Retro-peritoneal and intra-ligamentous tumors of the uterus and adnexa, 295.

Watson, F. S. Recent progress in genito-urinary surgery, 37; cases illustrating some of the more unusual causes of urinary retention, 161; report of some cases of rupture of the urethra, 194; the diagnosis and surgical treatment of cases of embolism and thrombosis of the mesenteric blood-vessels with reports of cases, 552, 563.

Way, G. W. Four pregnancies in a woman with double uterus and vagina, 169.

Weeks, S. H. Unique case of urinary calculi, 169, 235.

Welch. Some clinical features of the bacteriology of diphtheria, 354.

Wheeler, L. A case of symphyseotomy, 639.

White, J. B. The possibility of overcoming permanent stricture of the deep urethra without resort to external urethrotomy, 219.

White, J. C. Rare dermatoses, 64; the contagiousness and control of leprosy, 405.

White, J. W. A summary of the history and present position of the operation of castration for hypertrophy of the prostate, 192.

Whooping-cough. Certain peculiarities of the urine in pertussis, Blumenthal, 47.

Williams, F. H. The temperature as a guide in the administration of quinine in malaria, 478; the prevention of diphtheria, 546; report on therapeutics, 581; a few cases of diphtheria treated with antitoxin, 607; report on therapeutics, 615.

Williams, H. The subcutaneous injection of saline fluid in collapse from cholera morbus, 340.

Williams, H. W. Death of Professor Baron Heinrich von Helmholtz, 279; the first administration of ether in Paris and other reminiscences, 475.

Wilson, J. C. A case of malignant measles, 116.

Winchester, J. F. Diagnosis and prevention of bovine tuberculosis, 526, 533.

Withington, C. F. An old-time book of an old-time doctor, 627.

Wood, M. W. A ready culture medium for the gonococcus, 123.

Worcester, A. The Waltham Hospital sterilizer, 342.

Wordin, N. E. The restriction and prevention of tuberculosis, 373.

Wright, J. H. Studies in the pathology of diphtheria, 329, 357.

Wyeth, J. A. Ligation of arteries, 646.

Wylie, W. G. The influence of laceration of the perineum on the uterus, and the operation for its repair, 297.

Yellow Fever. The prevention of the spread of yellow fever, Formento, F., 374.

Yeo, B. The action of asparagus on the kidneys, 46.

Zeisler. The relation of impetigo herpetiformis to pemphigus vegetans, 65.